50 top rosés from around the world

Our experts have tasted through a record 322 rosés to bring you 50 of the best available in the UK today. Elizabeth Gabay MW analyses the results

ROSE WINE SALES developed from the bottom up, gaining momentum due to its uncomplicated style and pretty colour. The growth in premium rosé is changing this category, as more complex wines appear. Although there were no scores above 93 in this mammoth tasting, 40 were Highly Recommended and 79 Recommended.

French premium rosé dominated, but Spain, Italy and South Africa also fielded good examples. Origin, however, is not a guarantor of quality or style – although Provence rosés do generally have the edge.

The best wines showed a complex range of fruit characters (strawberry, redcurrant, cherry, peach, rhubarb, pomegranate and floral notes), fresh crunchy, zesty or leafy acidity, and hints of orange peel, garrigue, herbs or a savoury note. The best displayed fruit intensity rather than neutrality.

Colour had little correlation with quality, but reflected variety and origin. A few were almost water-white, with little fruit character, suggesting that more effort had gone into appearance than taste.

As expected, a few wines had spent time in oak. The best of these were well integrated, with sufficient fruit and structure to carry the oak, but in others it was overly dominant or poorly used.

Most top scorers were from the 2015 vintage, but a few 2014s performed well. Some were obviously made to age, but a few seemed to be old stock, so be wary of buying older rosés.

This tasting shows that premium rosé can still be a shot in the dark, with quality inconsistent (63% of wines were 85 points or below). Price gives a vague indication of quality, with only one of the top 10 wines under £15. But it's not a guarantee. Best advice: know a good wine merchant.

1 Domaine Delaporte, Chavignol, Sancerre, Loire, France 2015 93
£15.95 Lea & Sandeman
Bright, perfumed and intense, with attractive strawberry and red fruit on the nose and palate, underlined by a leafy character that is lively and zippy. Slightly tart on the finish but it has a good deal of concentrated flavour supported by acidity and minerality that adds silkiness and texture. Drink 2016-2017 Alcohol 13%

6 Château La Gordonne, La Chapelle, Côtes de Provence Pierrefeu, France 2015 93
£20 Wine Rack
Pale candyfloss pink, moving towards pale bronze. Sweet, round orange fruit and wild strawberry aromas with a hint of Chenin Blanc-like honeyed straw notes. The texture is creamy, and the palate is weighty, nutty and long with pretty peach and redcurrant fruit undertones. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

2 Domaine Lafran-Veyrolles, Bandol, Provence, France 2015 93

£15.95-£16 Handford Wines, Hawkshead, Highbury Vintners, Kwoff, Le Bon Vin, Slurp, The Vineyard, Waitrose Cellar

Pale, salmon pink with orangey flecks. Restrained aromas of apricot, spice and herbs that continue on the palate. Concentrated, chewy and weighty with mineral acidity. Mouthwatering and fresh, if a little understated. Complexity will come. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 13.5%

3 Château des Bormettes, Instinct Parcellaire, Côtes de Provence La Londe, France 2015 93

£15 Thomas Peatling

Quite prominent aromas of sweet red fruits, with a hint of vanilla and spice. The mineral character on the nose and palate is complemented by grapefruit, spice and delicate nuttiness. The creaminess is fresh, flowing and lingering. Very attractive style that will please many; it also has the ability to age further. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 13.5%

4 Château Les Valentines, Huit, Côtes de Provence La Londe, France 2015 93

£24 Dulwich Vintners

Delicate dried flower aromas with redcurrant fruit and a saline minerality on the palate to encourage another glass. There's a mouthfilling weight but with enough acidity to keep everything fresh and pleasurable. The creamy red berry fruit and leafy green freshness lead to a lovely, sustained finish. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

5 Domaine Sylvain Pataille, Fleur de Pinot, Marsannay, Burgundy, France 2014 93

£23 Fells

Powerful new oak dominates the nose but there is intense cherry fruit with spice and forest floor too. Not for all tastes, but this has real depth and concentration on the palate underpinned by light tannins and rippling acidity, making it textured and long. Interesting and challenging as a rosé style. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 13%

3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

7 Pascal Jolivet, Sancerre, Loire, France 2015 93

£19.95-£20

Hangingditch, Harrods, Le Vignoble, Maisons Marques et Domaines, Portland Wine Co, Slurp, Venus Wine

Some peach and ripe red berry fruit here, but it seems a more serious, less fruit-driven style than some, with a distinctive mineral character. The appetising, fresh, leafy acidity adds to the elegance and delicacy, finishing very clean and fresh. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 12.5%

8 Famille Negrel, La Petite Reine, Bandol, Provence, France 2015 92

£12.95 From Vineyards Direct

Exquisite aromas of jasmine, ripe strawberries and dried flowers. The soft palate has got lots of creamy, honeyed fruit flavours with balancing acidity and a herbal, saline freshness. This is drinking very well now but its concentration and purity suggest this rosé will age for at least another year. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

9 Domaine de la Ribotte, Cuvée Anais, Bandol, Provence, France 2015 92

£15.50 Stone Vine & Sun

A little more colour here than some, and a stalkier quality on the nose but there are still exuberant red fruit aromas and hints of cassis. On the palate there's dash of smoked paprika and a voluptuous creamy texture – quite a serious, focused and long-living rosé. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 13%

10 Château d'Esclans Domaines Sacha Lichine, Rock Angel, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 92

£19.95-£28.90 AC Gallie, Berkmann, Ellis Wines, From Vineyards Direct, Harrods, Love Wine

An engaging freshness with vibrant red fruits. Succulent, precise and pure palate with a slightly tart finish but the minerality shines through and the gently silky texture is charming. Enjoy now. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 14% ➢

For full UK stockist details, see p103

11 Bernard Magrez, L'Excellence des Muraires, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 91

£12 SH Jones

Crunchy redcurrant fruits lead into a succulent bite of acidity with a nice balance of fruit sweetness. The elegant and silky palate has dried flowers with a hint of honey and herbs and a creamy, leesy character. Long and fine-boned, this has delightful charm. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

12 Cottanera, Etna, Sicily, Italy 2015 91

£14.88 VinumTerra

Spicy red fruit flavours are complemented by a nutty edge and crisp acidity. Stony, mouthwatering mineral notes reflect volcanic Sicilian soils and give beautiful poise and structure, creating a distinctive harmony with the creamy, silky peach notes. A delectable style with more than a nod to good Provence rosé. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

13 Domaine de L'Olivette, Bandol, Provence, France 2015 91

£16.50 Buckingham Schenk

Complexity on the nose which is not commonly found in a lot of rosés: a melange of sweet orange fruit, herb and blossom aromas with flecks of apricot and soft red berries. A fleshy, ripe but subtle palate of blackcurrant, orange peel and sea spray leads onto notes of garrigue and gooseberry. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 12%

14 Domaine Gavoty, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 91

£11.95 Jeroboams

Quite a serious style of Provence rosé – there is a delicate balance between fruit weight and a savoury edge which makes it very enjoyable to drink. There's a touch of bitterness too which is smoothed out by mineral acidity and subtle oak spice. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

15 Miraval, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 91

£16.95-£18 widely available via UK agent Fields Morris & Verdin

A slightly muted nose with pure floral hints. Slightly heavy palate but the ripe strawberry and gentle raspberry fruit characters are coupled with a delicate spice. This classy rosé is mouthfilling and would shine even more with food which would enhance its complexity and fragrance. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

16 Château Henri Bonnaud, Palette, Provence, France 2015 91

£20.81 Gauntley's

This has bags of charm and finesse with hints of grapefruit and sweet ripe berry fruit with just enough acidity to keep things in check. Structured but fine-boned with raspberry and spice on the palate. Graceful and pleasing, this a superb summer rosé to drink sooner rather than later. Drink 2016 Alc 14%

17 Château la Verrerie, Grand Deffand, Luberon, Rhône, France 2015 91

POA Liberty Wines

Ripe red fruit with hints of raspberry jam, firm acidity, a chewy palate and toasty aromas and flavours. At its peak now but will drink well over the next 12 months. A weighty, powerful style which lacks subtlety but makes up for it with oodles of character and spice. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

18 Château Thuerry, Les Abeillons, Coteaux Varois en Provence, France 2015 91

£16 BMC Global

Flavours and aromas of spice and wild strawberries with delightful juiciness, alluring intensity and refined elegance. Fully reflects the Provence style with a little more flesh and heat on the palate, but with silky peach notes. This exudes great delicacy. Drink 2016 Alc 14%

For full UK stockist details, see p103

19 Barton & Guestier, Passeport, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 91

£20 Waitrose

A very stylish pale peach colour, with spicy aromas and a touch of fragrant herbs. Crisp acidity balances a hint of residual sweetness and handsome minerality follows through into delicate almond nuttiness. This is creamy and gentle now but will develop even further. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 13%

20 Château de Lancyre, Pic St-Loup, Coteaux du Languedoc, France 2015 91

£12.95 Alliance Wine

Captivating sweet apple nose and palate with a herbaceous note. There's a distinctive crunchiness to the red fruit and a mouthwatering acidity that enchances the lingering mineral finish. This is attractive now but certainly has the potential to develop a bit further. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

21 Château Paradis, Terre des Anges, Coteaux d'Aix-en-Provence, France 2015 91

£36 Ellis Wines

A slightly reductive, confected character that smooths into classic peaches-and-cream perfume and a delicate, honeyed straw flavour. Full of grace and zest, there's an attractive sweetness to the ripe fruit, seductive weight and balance and a long, mineral finish. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

22 Clos Cibonne, Cuvée Tradition, Côtes de Provence Cru Classé, France 2014 91

£20 Market Row, Red Squirrel, Solent Cellar, Swig, The Grape and the Good, The Good Spirits Co, The Square Wine Co, Unwined Tooting, Vagabond

Delicate peach spice perfume. A crisp and fresh palate of creamy fruit, with dry mineral notes on the finish. Showing some style and elegance with lift and concentration. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26

23 Domaine de Fondrèche, Ventoux, Rhône, France 2015 91

£11.25 H2Vin, Terra Wines

Layered and lifted aromas of spicy, smoky redcurrants and pomegranate. Plenty of interest stemming from the crisp herbal acidity, minerality and woodsmoke character combining harmoniously with peaches, roses and fragrant red berry fruits. Drink 2016 Alc 12.5%

24 Domaine Gavoty, Cuvée Clarendon, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 91

£15.95 Jeroboams

Bright red fruits come spilling out of this appealing rosé. Succulent, sweet-fruited and spicy with a crisp and juicy fruit character and zingy acidity. Not overly long or complex but very nicely made and very drinkable now. Mellifluous and refreshing. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

25 Domaine Laporte, La Terre des Anges, Sancerre, Loire, France 2015 91

£18.95 Perfect Cellar

Quite a vibrant pink for Sancerre rosé. Fragrant, classic Pinot Noir aromas of wild strawberry, great fruit purity, a little spice and a slightly leafy character. Bitterness on the finish is smoothed out by softly refreshing lingering acidity and an elegantly silky texture. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 12%

26 Famille Sumeire, Château Coussin, Côtes de Provence Ste-Victoire, France 2015 91

£13.50 Oddbins

Brilliantly fragrant with sweet, spicy red fruit aromas. Quite weighty on the palate, but the fruit flavour is more oriented towards tinned than fresh in style, with a supple texture and depth. This would be great as an aperitif on a hot day. Drink 2016 Alc 13% ➢

For full UK stockist details, see p103

27 Frescobaldi, Alie, Toscana, Italy 2015 91
£14.49 Whalley Wine Shop
A very successful rosé with exuberant, ripe red berry and cherry aromas and flavours. There is a succulence to this that keeps on giving, with the addition of delightful spiciness on the palate. A natural fruit sweetness on the finish makes this extremely characterful and drinkable. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 12.5%

28 Domaine Clos Ste-Magdeleine, Cassis, Provence, France 2015 90
£19.95 Yapp Bros
A slightly different Provence style that works. The balance of sweet ripe strawberry and blackcurrant fruit and spicy, leafy herbal notes gives it great charm. There is bewitching elegance from the fresh acidity and zesty redcurrant notes flowing throughout. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

29 Domaine de Mourchon, Côtes du Rhône Villages Ségurêt, France 2015 90
£9.50-£12 Averys, The Wine Society
Lifted, lively and appetising aromas of big bright fruits. It is not overly long, but it is very nicely made with a crisp, juicy character and desirable zingy acidity. It has some power, but also an elegance to it from the fresh red berries that linger in the mouth. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

30 St-André de Figuière, Première de Figuière, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 90
£16 Robert Rolls
Very fresh and beautifully creamy with firm, structured black fruit and refined wild strawberry, dipping into notes of orange peel and honeyed tones. Has great delicacy and a silky texture. Will be just as pleasant in 12 months. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

31 Vins Breban, Mado en Provence, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 90
£13.95 The Vintner
Quite a dry style which lacks a bit of fruit sweetness but there is still an appealing lifted, spicy nose giving way to orange blossom and peel. Weighty and not overly complex, but certainly graceful with a fine mineral backbone. Charming. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

32 Château Thuerry 21, Coteaux Varois en Provence, France 2015 90
£16 BMC Global
A pot pourri of fruits and flowers on both nose and palate. A touch of reduction, but there's a nice balance of sweetness to the somewhat savoury fruit. Alcohol is evident on the finish, but this is a quite distinctive wines that's rather drinkable! Drink 2016-2017 Alc 14%

33 Château Vignelaure, La Source, Coteaux d'Aix en Provence, France 2014 90
£10.95-£11.50 Georges Barbier, James Nicholson
Lively, weighty palate of stone fruits with a bite of red cherry and spice – almost a Pinot Meunier character. Lovely equilibrium of ripe fruit, natural sweetness, zestiness and concentration that leads to a lightly mineral, leafy finish. Drink 2016-2018 Alc 12.5%

34 Domaine Lafond, Roc-Epine, Tavel, Rhône, France 2015 90
£12.50-£15.50 Charles Taylor Wines, Le Bon Vin, Montrachet Fine, The Oxford Wine Co
A delicate coppery pink rosé that's exuberantly spicy, with crunchy redcurrant fruit. A mineral twist unfolds onto biscuit and peppery flavours. There's pleasant tannins on the finish and the concentration to improve over a few months. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

For full UK stockist details, see p103

35 Gunter & Regina Triebaumer, Blaüfrankisch Reserve, Rust, Burgenland, Austria 2015 90

£14.40 Alpine Wines

A vibrant, purple-dominated colour with crunchy dark fruit flavours to match, and a touch of rhubarb. Hints of spice and rosehip add more complexity to this pleasurable rosé. The brisk, cooling acidity shines through, with a suggestion of sweetness on the finish. Drink 2016 Alc 12.5%

36 La Mascaronne, Quat' Saisons, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 90

£12.49-£13.95 Dulwich Vintners, Partidges, Raffles Fine Wines, The Grocery, The Oxford Wine Company

This is really quite elegant and fine with a great balance of crunchy redcurrants, zesty raspberry sweetness coupled with a spice and nutty depth. The bite of acidity is welcome next to the creamy fruit and weight on the palate. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

37 Château de Calavon, Coteaux d'Aix-en-Provence, France 2015 90

£11.95 Genesis Wines

A fitting example of Provence rosé. Admirable fleshiness on the palate. Great expression from the nose: floral, orange blossom and peach notes. The delicately dreamy, silky texture is enhanced by a flash of apricot and then closing on a fresh, mineral note. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

38 Château d'Esclans Domaines Sacha Lichine, Garrus, Côtes de Provence, France 2014 90

£62-£94.95 Berkmann, Ellis Wines, From Vineyards Direct, Harrods, Lay & Wheeler

The pale powder-pink colour is deceptive as this displays some depth. A touch of spice from the oak, with red berry and marmalade notes. This is a less conventional style but well done with attractive structure. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 14%

35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42

39 Domaine Sorin, Bandol, Provence, France 2015 90

£13.47 Lloyds Wines

A lovely, fragrant garrigue-spiced nose twinned with ripe black fruit, raspberry and peach. It's lacking in concentration on the mid-palate but there is interesting freshness and purity with mineral acidity. An enjoyable example of a well-made rosé. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13%

40 Alain Gueneau, Sancerre, Loire, France 2013 89

£21 Top Selection

Delicious mature rosé. This has a relatively evolved aroma with just-ripe redcurrant fruit, soft crushed raspberries and vibrant acidity. Like summer in a glass, this would be good with fish and shows how Sancerre can age – a 2013 rosé that still has decisive minerality. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

41 Domaine Lafond, L'Esprit de Roc-Epine, Tavel, Rhône, France 2015 89

£15.50-£20 Charles Taylor, Le Bon Vin, Montrachet Fine Wine

Creamy palate of strawberry fruit edged with mince pie spice and slightly savoury undertones. Just enough acidity to keep it balanced and it certainly is drinking well now. A good style that's slightly different from your classic Provence. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5%

42 Domaine Maby, La Fermade, Lirac, Rhône, France 2015 89

£12.50 Yapp Bros

Fresh red cherry and sweet earthy spice nose and palate with light tannins and firm acidity. There is certainly a savoury, herbal influence here that adds intrigue along with the influence of the red berry fruit. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 13.5% ➢

43 Château Cavalier, Côtes de Provence, France 2015 89

£12.95-£13 AC Gallie, Hennings Wine, Love Wine

Delicate dried flowers on the nose. Quite broad in style on the light, elegant palate with a tinned fruit character and silky texture. Just enough acidity to balance the weighty yet crisp, mineral fruit. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 12%

44 Château Lestrille Capmartin, Clairet, Bordeaux, France 2014 89

£12.63 Eton Vintners, Great Wines Direct

As expected in a clairet, this is deep and serious in colour. It shows too in the dark fruits – cherries and currants that dominate the palate, giving way to green leafy aromas. Not overly powerful, this verges on a light red wine in character, the summer equivalent of a luncheon claret. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

47 Buil & Giné, Ginérosat, Priorat, Spain 2014 89

£15 Highbury Vintners

Slightly reductive on the nose which smooths out into a richly fruited palate with mineral depth. This is not an elegant ballerina, but certainly has lots of substance: deep, ripe red fruit and firm oak influence. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 14.5%

48 Château Mira Luna, Côteaux Varois de Provence, France 2015 89

£19.25 The Wine Library

This has an early, easy-drinking style, boasting charming soft cherry fruit, ripeness and a herbaceous quality. Round and refreshing, it would suit many rosé drinkers looking for something simple but vibrant. Drink 2016 Alc 14%

For full UK stockist details, see p103

45 Domaine Maby, La Forcadière, Tavel, Rhône, France 2015 89

£12.95 Yapp Bros

A full-bodied style of rosé with more colour, weight and higher alcohol. Hefty and certainly not subtle, it is full of juicy, bright, spicy strawberry fruit aromas and flavours, with hints of chalky tannins. Borderline between a light red and a dark rosé, it shows a good sense of place. Drink 2016 Alc 14%

46 Bodegas Otazu, Tempranillo, Navarra, Spain 2015 89

£11.50 Soho Wine Supply

Fresh and lively yet rounded, this has that just-ripe, red-berry fruit quality that can make rosé so refreshing. There is a creamy, peachy, slightly sherbet character, enhanced by fresh acidity and fleshy fruit. An attractive, zippy rosé with just enough weight for food. Drink 2016 Alc 13.5%

47 48 49 50

49 Château Spencer la Pujade, La P'tite Soeur, Corbieres, Languedoc, France 2015 89

£12.50 Department 33

Slightly reduced on the nose, but delicate strawberry aromas peep through. There's more oomph on the spicy palate, which has a smoked paprika flavour underpinned by vibrant red cherry fruit, tangy acidity and a touch of tannins. Charismatic. Drink 2016 Alc 13%

50 Domaine la Rocalière, Perle de Culture, Tavel, Rhône, France 2015 89

£16 Ten Acre Wines, Wine Growers Direct

Softly sweet, this full-bodied rosé has a mix of peppery red fruit and saline notes. The alcohol is evident but there is just enough fruit and acidity to keep things in check, therefore it is best to drink this sooner rather than later, to capture its appeal. Drink 2016-2017 Alc 14% D
